

CALENDAR OF WRITS OF MUNRO OF FOULIS
1299-1823

d. by C.T. McInnes, Record Office,
H.M. General Register House, Edinburgh,
1940

1. [1299-1311] Charter by Elizabeth Byseth, relict of Sir Andrew de Bosco, in her lawful widowhood and with full power, giving, granting, and confirming for ever to William Earl of Ross, and his heirs, the whole barony of Edidouer, namely the castle with the davach called Glastulauch, another davach called Davauchnakaryn, a third davach called Culyncurch, a fourth davach called Cuulcolli [Kilcoy], the half davach called Lechdavauchfur, and three-fourths of a davach called Gargyhishille, in wood and plain, meadows and grazings, etc., malt-kilns, etc., mountains, hills, valleys, and birds' nests, and also with the patronage of the hospital-house of Edirdouer, and the rents pertaining to said house, and all and sundry other just pertinents, etc., belonging to said barony, in excambion for three davachs of land in Roger, namely, the davach called Ardtarbard, another davach called Tarbard, and the half-davach called Byndal in said tenement of Tarbard, and the half-davach called Estirmuirachy, which three davachs said Earl William gave, granted and confirmed to her in his charter; said barony of Edirdouer to be held by said earl, and his heirs, with pertinents as aforesaid, in chief, fee and heritage of the king of Scots and his heirs, as freely, quietly, wholly and honourably, as any barony held or possessed in the kingdom of Scotland in the northerly part of the mountains. As her seal was not well known, the seals of Sir William de Fentona, Sir William de Haya and the prior of Beauly ('de Bello loco'), together with her seal, were appended. Witnesses, Martin abbot of New Fern, John son of Cristine McGilloner, William de Culenlis, clerk, Bernard de Haudene, Bolan Beg, John son of Gilbert cl...her, Philipp de Kochy. Without date.